WESTERN COLORADO COMMUNITY FOUNDATION 2011 ANNUAL REPORT LEAVE YOUR MARK... CHARITABLE FUNDS FOR COMMUNITY GOOD

By the people of Western Colorado, For the people of Western Colorado...

Community Foundations are very American, highly participatory and community-based institutions. They are built over the years by lots of people, from many different walks of life and with different charitable interests but a common commitment: to improve the quality of life in the communities they live in.

$1.4 Million in Grants and Scholarships Distributed

Our Community Foundation continues to grow. 2011 was another record-breaking year in terms of grants and scholarships distributed into our communities. Almost $1.4 million was awarded, an increase of 38% over 2010 levels of funding. With our local economy still in the doldrums and many people struggling to make ends meet, it is very gratifying to see our donors support so many worthwhile programs and projects benefiting our communities.

Celebrating 15 Years of Community Philanthropy

November 2011 marked the 15th anniversary of our incorporation. The Western Colorado Community Foundation has grown from zero assets in 1996 to almost $30 million under management today. We are now one of the largest charitable foundations in Western Colorado. Several anniversary events are planned to celebrate our success and accomplishments, recognize our donors, promote local community philanthropy and spread the word about charitable endowments and legacy giving. An inspirational video is available and can be viewed on our website.

Planning for the Future

This year our board engaged in a strategic planning and visioning process to chart our direction for the next ten years. Our vision for 2020 is ambitious and exciting. We will continue to provide excellent stewardship of our donor funds and professional grants and scholarship administration. We hope to create more of a "community of donors," engaging like-minded people who care about Western Colorado in learning about current community needs and exploring how they can make a difference. We plan to raise more discretionary funds so we can respond to needs and opportunities in our community, now and in the future. We seek ways to improve our operations through the use of new technologies, on-line scholarship and grant applications and social media.

The next ten years will be full of growth
and new opportunities for our Community Foundation.
We invite you to learn more and
get involved.

Charitable funds for community good

Types of Funds

Our Community Foundation offers different types of funds

DONOR-ADVISED FUNDS

provide the ultimate flexibility, allowing the donor to recommend specific organizations to receive grants each year.

DESIGNATED FUNDS

are established by donors who wish to support a favorite specific charitable organization.

AGENCY ENDOWMENTS

are established by nonprofit organizations to provide income for themselves.

SCHOLARSHIP FUNDS

are established to provide funds for students' education.

FIELD-OF-INTEREST FUNDS

are for a broad area of interest such as children and youth or arts and culture. WCCF will make grants to organizations making a difference in that arena.

GEOGRAPHIC AREA FUNDS

benefit a particular geographic area or community designated by the donor.

DISCRETIONARY FUNDS FOR COMMUNITY GRANTS

enable WCCF to respond to changing community needs.

Ways to Give

There are many ways to give to our Community Foundation is the simplest way to give and always welcome. A cash gift provides immediate tax benefits to the donor.

CASH

MEMORIAL

contributions may be made in the honor or memory of a family member, friend or other loved one.

STOCK & SECURITIES

can be donated to the Community Foundation. Appreciated securities have double tax advantage. The donor gets an annual charitable tax deduction and avoids capital gains taxes.

REAL ESTATE

and other property can be donated to the Community Foundation, again with special tax benefits.

LIFE INSURANCE

A donor can name WCCF as beneficiary of an existing policy that is no longer needed, or consider purchasing a life insurance policy naming the Community Foundation as irrevocable beneficiary.

LIFE INCOME GIFTS

Special techniques such as a Charitable Gift Annuity or Charitable Remainder Trust allow the donor to receive considerable tax deductions and an income for life. When the donor passes away, the remainder transfers to WCCF for use specified by the donor.

BEQUEST OR ESTATE GIFTS

People who care about western Colorado may name the Western Colorado Community Foundation in their will or estate plan. Even though the gift matures later, the donor is honored and recognized during his or her lifetime as a member of the WCCF Legacy Society.

Donor Funds

"Grandparent Funds"

An inter-generational commitment to help others

One of our donor families made dinner at HomewardBound when they were visiting Grand Junction grandparents, and then the children directed a grant to the shelter.

Donor-advised funds allow families to stay involved in their giving. Many donors involve their children and other family members in deciding what to support each year. This year, three sets of grandparents established inter-generational donor-advised funds and are excited to involve their adult children and school-age grandchildren in philanthropy. Conversations about the grandchildren's interests and ways to volunteer have led to grants to the local homeless shelter, the Salvation Army, animal welfare projects, and an international organization providing school supplies in Kenya. Grandparents are instilling an important family value, and their grandchildren are learning about how important it is to "give back" and help others.

Nonprofit Funds

Permanent and diversified funding for nonprofit organizations

This year four nonprofit organizations established endowments at our Community Foundation. Nonprofit organizations value the benefits of partnering with our Community Foundation: professional and expert investment management, participating in a larger investment pool and earning better returns, assurance for their donors that the endowment funds will be maintained for that purpose, and assistance with marketing planned gifts and endowments to major donors.

Our Community Foundation manages endowments for a number of service clubs

- Fruita Rotary
- Glenwood Springs Kiwanis
- Grand Junction
 Downtown Rotary
- Grand Valley/ Parachute Kiwanis
- Montrose Lions

Service above self The Downtown Grand Junction Rotary Club distributes dictionaries to 3rd graders and organizes many other service projects throughout the year. The Club has established an endowment as a way for its members to leave a legacy gift and support Rotary projects and scholarships in the future.

Almost immediately after announcing that the Redlands United Methodist Church had established their new endowment, an anonymous donor stepped forward with a significant donation and challenged the congregation to match it.

Our Community Foundation offers donors a great deal of flexibility in establishing a fund.
Donors name their fund and direct what they want to do.

Earnings are available to support favorite charities (designated funds), meet needs in a particular community (geographic funds) or provide scholarships. Donor-advised funds are an attractive alternative to private foundations; all legal, tax and administrative requirements are handled by our Community Foundation.

Education is a powerful gift to give a young person. A college degree can open doors and expand opportunities. WCCF currently holds 18 different funds that provide scholarships. We work with our donors to develop eligibility guidelines and criteria for scholarships, advertise their availability, review applications, interview students, and verify enrollment and grades for scholarship renewals.

In 2011, our Community Foundation awarded almost $340,000 to 142 students to help them attend college and pursue their educational plans.

Scholarships

Bill Patterson Scholarship Fund Supporting high achieving students who want to make a difference

Retired surgeon Bill Patterson and his wife Donna established a new scholarship fund to honor their son Bill who passed away in 2010 at the age of 48. Bill's childhood in Grand Junction cultivated a lifelong love for the outdoors and shaped his interest in the environment and environmental education for young people. Bill graduated from Grand Junction High School as valedictorian in 1980 and went on to study at Harvard and Stanford Business School, founding and then serving as managing partner of a successful investment company in California. His family remembers him for his warmth, generosity of spirit and zest for living.

The Patterson family very much believes in the value of education. An annual scholarship will be available to a student graduating from a Mesa County high school with strong academic credentials and wanting to study science or environmental studies. The scholarship will provide "bridge" funding to help a student attend his or her college of choice.

Donna explains their thinking behind establishing this scholarship. "Bill's keen intellect and willingness to work hard allowed him to reach the highest levels in his profession. His active curiosity and interest in civic and cultural causes led to key leadership roles at the Children's Exploratorium and the California Academy of Sciences. Our goal is to try to recognize similar traits in graduating high school seniors and to enhance their careers."

To desire My To de

Elliot B. plans to study nuclear engineering at the Colorado School of Mines. The Pattersons are pleased to support Elliot. "We believe that he is laying the foundation to a career which may be as rewarding and significant as our son Bill's. Elliot is sure to make a positive difference in the world."

Charitable Legacies

Bruce Dixson

A Quiet and Humble Philanthropist

An entrepreneurial spirit and generous heart, longtime Grand Junction resident Bruce Dixson passed away in late 2011 at the age of 93. His life story includes a number of interesting chapters — growing up in Florida and Georgia, working in aeronautics during World War II, inventing navigational devices, starting a business that would become Dixson Inc. in his garage, taking up golf in his fifties, designing and building his own log cabin on Pinyon Mesa at the age of 79.

Bruce loved to tinker and fix and improve and invent things, both mechanical and organizational. Successful in business, he was always generous with his expertise and financial support of nonprofit organizations, particularly health and human service organizations. He served on many local boards; the Salvation Army was a favorite charity and he served on that board for over three decades. He preferred anonymity to being identified on donor lists and recognition walls. After all his adventures and accomplishments, Bruce wished to be remembered for being a quiet and humble philanthropist with a deep commitment for giving back.

Bruce was very involved with our Community Foundation. He was instrumental in terms of providing out-of-the-box thinking and financial support for several important organizational initiatives. He always liked new ideas; he approached his philanthropy as investing — in people to help them improve their situations, and in organizations he believed in to help them "grow to the next level."

Bruce's legacy of generosity continues through the new Bruce Dixson Fund. Our Community Foundation is a major charitable beneficiary of Bruce's estate and this fund will support a variety of human service organizations, those Bruce supported during his lifetime and start-up nonprofits looking to meet new needs in our community. This legacy fund will continue Bruce's giving for generations to come, an ultimate gift from this generous and humble man.

These individuals have made provisions for a future gift to WCCF as part of their will or estate plan. Thank you for your foresight and commitment to the community you call home!

*denotes a planned gift that has matured

These are individuals who have informed WCCF of their intentions. We do not mean to omit any names. If you have made plans for a future gift and would like to be recognized as a member of our Legacy Society, please call our office.

Planned gifts simply mean charitable donations planned by a donor today that will mature at some point in the future.

Planned gifts can be as easy as naming the Western Colorado
Community Foundation in your will or estate plan or as beneficiary of your IRA or other assets. Or you may be interested in a charitable trust or gifting life insurance.

For more information about including the Community

Foundation in your estate plan, contact WCCF at 970.243.3767.
